

AUSTIN PEAY TO OPEN DEMOCRATIC CAM- PAIGN SATURDAY. Tax Reform and Economy In Government To Be Key Note of Address.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 27—(Special)—One of the greatest political demonstrations ever staged in Tennessee will be the feature of the opening of the Democratic State Campaign at Murfreesboro next Saturday.

Democrats from the Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Congressional Districts are expected to attend the rally, when Austin Peay of Clarksville, Democratic nominee for Governor, will fire the opening gun of the campaign with his formal speech.

Arrangements for the speaking are in charge of Jesse Beesley, popular Democratic leader of Rutherford County, and Campaign Manager in the recent primary of Ex-Governor Benton McMillin's race for the Democratic nomination.

The speech of Mr. Peay will follow the general lines laid down in his platform which won him the Democratic nomination in the August primary. Tax reform will occupy a large place in the document. Mr. Peay will declare that the burden of taxation falls too heavily on land and he will pledge himself to save at least one million dollars to the taxpayers of the State.

Economy in the State Government will receive much attention from Mr. Peay who is expected to declare for the abolition of useless offices and a consequent saving to the tax payers of thousands of dollars annually. He will also come out strongly for the complete abolishment of the back tax laws and the repeal of the eight percent interest laws. Another important point will be the declaration for a re-organization of the State Highway Department.
